MOLSON COORS beverage company

Our Quality & Food Safety (QFS) Commitment

At Molson Coors Beverage Company, our ambition is to be First Choice for our people, our customers and our consumers. We are committed to a strong culture of food safety and quality, supported by documented policies and effective procedures that affirm our responsibility to produce safe, legal, and authentic products of the highest specified quality, while upholding global regulatory compliance and meeting customer expectations.

With our goal to delight beverage drinkers around the world with products and innovations that are safe and of exceptional quality, we strive to ensure that

- We take pride in brewing great-tasting beers and other beverages with quality ingredients.
- Our customers and consumers trust that our products are manufactured, packaged and shipped with the highest standards of food safety, quality and compliance.
- We apply lessons learned across our business to enable our drive to zero food safety and quality defects through right the first time processes.
- We build upon our internal capabilities by embracing and coaching continuous improvement as a foundation to our Food Safety and Quality culture.
- Foster commitment by recognizing our employees for their passion, commitment, knowledge and experience which positively contribute to food safety and quality.

We acknowledge our accountability to ensure food safety and quality, and we take responsibility for providing our employees, customers and consumers clear communication and feedback on our drive for continuous improvement. We will ensure appropriate controls are maintained through periodic audits and implementation of corrective actions and updated standards.

We are committed to achieving a world-class food safety and quality culture and performance that supports the success of Molson Coors Beverage Company.

Rahul Goyal
President and CEO

Matthew Hook
Chief Supply Chain Officer, Americas